HVAC Permit Requirements

Effective Immediately:

Good Day

We have reviewed the requirements for HVAC contractors under the Safety Codes Act Permit Regulations and as this is a recognized and compulsory trade under the Apprenticeship and Industry Training Act, all contracted Sheet Metal Work must be carried out by a licensed and certified Sheet Metal Worker including smaller projects such as basement developments and other renovations and alterations. The exception is a home owner who resides in a single family dwelling who has signed a declaration that they will be carrying out the work within their home can apply for the permit.

This change does include a requirement to apply for an HVAC permit when doing design changes to any HVAC system which includes additions, changes or deletions of the heating system components.

For Further information on this, Please contact the building inspections department at the City of Airdrie.
